REQUEST FOR GAS FRANCHISE.

R. G. Lowell and Albert Hafner Ask for Franchise.

At the council meeting last Thursday evening, R. G. Lowell and Albert Hafner asked the city council for a franchise to manufacture and sell gas and to construct, maintain and operate gas works and lay gas pipes, mains and conduits in the streets, alleys, lanes, parks and public grounds in the city of Rhinelander for the delivery of gas to the said city of Rhinelander and the inhabitants thereof for fuel, light, heating, culinary and manufacturing purposes.

The said R. G. Lowell and Albert Hafner agree to repair all damages to city property at their own expense. They agree to supply the city with gas not later than October 1, 1908. They agree to furnish gas at a price not exceeding one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per one thousand feet. In the event of the failure of said parties to install the plant, as stated in the franchise, they agree to forfeit all their rights and interests in the franchise and they shall at once terminate.

The Mayor appointed Messrs. Gary, Morrill and Anderson with the City Attorney Mr. Steel to look into the conditions of the franchise and report at the first regular meeting in May. If this franchise is granted, and without doubt, it will be, if conditions are right, the gas plant will be a competitive concern with the electric light company for lighting purposes. It will also make a specialty of heating and culinary purposes.

The full copy of this franchise will be published next week in the minutes of the city council.

WEDDINGS.

DUNN-MALONE.

At seven o'clock Wednesday morning, in the Parochial Chapel school, Stephen J. Dunn and Rhoda Malone were united in marriage, with a few friends in attendance.

The bride wore a white embroidered gown and white hat and was attended by Miss Della White, who acted as bride's maid and wore a white dotted mull gown and white hat. Frank Malone, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home, to the bridal party and family.

The bride is well known in the city. Up to a short time ago held a position in Mrs. O'Brien's millinery parlors.

The groom is also well known here, being employed as brakeman on the Soo railroad. The young couple left at 9:30 for their future home at Weyerhaeuser.

GAYNER-MATTIN.

At the bride's home on Thayer St., Rhinelander, on April 4, 1907, Joseph Gayner to Miss Josephine Augusta Martin. Justice F. M. Mason officiating.

ISLE OF PINES PART OF CUBA

The Supreme Court has rendered a decision that the Isle of Pines is Cuban territory and does not belong to the U. S. This decision principally affects Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin people who are large property owners on the island. It is somewhat of a surprise to most people that 95 per cent of the lands of the island are owned by Americans and the decision is a great disappointment to them from many standpoints. Many of its property owners went there to utilize the arable lands which there are about 700,000 acres. There are only two Spanish towns and only a handful of Cubans; practically all the business interests are American, and it will be a sad blow to these sanguine Americans who so fondly hoped that the American flag might wave over their valuable possessions.

MILWAUKEE HIT.

Milwaukee is hit by the supreme court as all Ohio was three years ago, and her school law is declared unconstitutional. Now the legislature will try to do the trick over again so that it will stand trial.

We hope that she may be fortunate enough to secure a school board under the new law representative of the people's wishes. Several eminent educators have given their views on the subject. All agree that a board should be small, not to exceed five to seven members, should represent districts or the whole city and should be elected not appointed.

WHERE IS DANIEL HYNES?

Aged 42, height about 5 feet 8 inches, weight about 175 pounds, eyes brown, hair brown, possibly somewhat gray. Has not been heard of by relatives since 1901. Before that he lived in various places in Northern Wisconsin. Worked in the woods during the winters. Has lived in Cadott, Chippewa Falls, Eau Claire, Rhinelander, Bayfield, Ashland, Bloomer and Marshfield. First informant paid. Write his sister, Marie Hynes Berry, Richland Center, Wisconsin.

WINTER BACK AGAIN.

Nearly a Foot of Snow In This Vicinity.

An almost unprecedented climatic condition has existed since the latter part of March, when the thermometer went down and froze the ground again, necessitating the putting on of furs and winter wraps, when most people had them laid away. The recent snow storm which began Saturday and continued for several days seems to have been quite general throughout the State. In northern Michigan the snow fall was two feet. In this city nearly a foot fell and the snow was accompanied by a cutting wind, which seemed more like January than April. A large number of vehicles around town is back on runners and teamsters are taking advantage by drawing wood. But it can't last and we hope we won't get another such dose.

OPPOSITION TO RESERVOIR BILL.

The town of Farmington, Vilas County sends a petition with fifty-six names headed by the town chairman, George Jackson, to the state legislature asking that the reservoir bill 240S be defeated.

Another petition with over a hundred names goes from Eagle River. This petition is headed by Attorney Amos Radcliffe of that town. There seems to be a determined effort on the part of the masses to defeat the bill in its present form. The people seem determined to protect their rights. The past conduct of corporations does not warrant the State's giving away its great natural resources with the understanding that they can be taken back at will. Such statements may be used to get consent to pass a bill but the observer of the legislative squabbles of the past few years knows better.

THE STATE SCHOOL TAX.

No section of the State Tax Commission's biennial report will attract more attention than that which recommends a change in the method of raising and disbursing the state tax for the support of the common schools.

At present the levy is by percentage—seven-tenths of a mill on the assessed valuation. A few years ago, when the assessment boards throughout the state raised valuations about a hundred per cent., the amount of the school tax was practically doubled. The school tax is collected from each county according to the assessed valuation of the taxable property in that county, but is disbursed to each county in the form of a per capita allowance based upon the population of children of school age. There are many school districts scattered throughout the state which levy no local taxes for school purposes, their local public schools being supported by what they receive from the proceeds of the state tax.

The tax commission suggests that the percentage system of raising the school tax shall be superseded, and that an annual appropriation be made for the support of the schools. It suggests that if the present method of raising the tax is continued the method of distribution be changed. There has long been a feeling that the present method of collecting and disbursing the school tax was inequitable, and should be revised or superseded. The tax commission's recommendations will at least have the effect of bringing this important subject up for debate.—Evening Wisconsin.

UP-TO-DATE IN ENGLAND.

(From Drain.)

The possibilities of advertising are not as yet fully realized in this country. Our English cousins can still give us pointers. This is not a jest; in fact it is a very grave matter, as the reader will shortly see. What American druggist ever thought of advertising himself in a churchyard—on his wife's tombstone? A tombstone in a churchyard at Greenwich bears the following inscription:

Here lies

CLARINDA,

Wife of Joseph Grant,
Who Keeps a Chemist Shop at
No. 21 Berkeley Road,
And Deals Only in the Purest Goods.

NEW USE FOR NEWSPAPERS.

It has been discovered that apples wrapped in newspapers will keep all winter, the paper excluding the damp. Care should be taken, however, that the subscription be paid, or the dampness in the paper from what is due will spoil the fruit.—Kansas City Journal.

OPERATE WAUPACA QUARRY.

The Wisconsin Granite company will begin operating its plant tomorrow at Waupaca, for an all summer run. The company purchased the building and quarries last year and made a trial run, which proved successful. The quarries are of the hardest granite rock; which is crushed into four grades used for streets. The company will employ about fifty men and turn out from five to ten carloads a day.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE

Mrs. Richards of Ohio Makes Strong Plea for Temperance.

Mrs. Richards spoke to a good sized earnest audience at the Opera House Wednesday evening on the benefits of temperance. She stated that managers in all lines of business are now seeking the services of temperate men for commercial reasons alone. She stated that her services had been sought in the department stores and other places of business in Chicago by the heads of the institutions to address the boys and men on this subject and that she had received the greatest encouragement in her work by the employees. Mrs. Richards said some Wisconsin people have the impression that beer is the leading manufacturing industry instead it is the thirteenth on the list, lumber leading.

She put forth numerous statistics to prove that the towns with the fewest saloons have the highest standard of living; that the saloons ruin the man who can not withstand temptation that his money goes for drink instead of supporting his family, and if the temptation is removed the family is greatly benefited. She brought instances to prove that the commercial interests of a town are better subserved by removing the saloons. She showed that first the drunkards vote the saloons out of the town and later the business men who see the advantage of their absence, vote them out.

Mrs. Richards said she did not expect to get rid of saloons in most instances but the saloon men should be required to live up to the laws as to hours of closing, Sunday closing and of selling to minors. If the officers would not enforce the laws that the better citizens should see that they are enforced. She stated that already there is an organization formed in our city to see that the saloons live up to the laws.

SAY TRAINS MUST WAIT.

Tuesday: The railroad rate commission today handed down a decision in which it has held that the making of proper train connections between proper train connections at junction points is in the interest of the general public, a matter of public convenience and comfort and the performance of the duty which public carriers hold to the public. A certain train connection is ordered. Another train connection is ordered for in the petition is not ordered for the reason that it would be an undue interference with interstate commerce and that the service afforded by other trains at this point is in itself reasonably adequate.

TWO COMPLAINTS MADE.

One complaint was signed by Olaf Rosen against the Omaha and the Soo railroads to compel trains to stop at Turtle Lake. Another complaint was presented in the form of a petition signed by twenty persons, relating to the Twilight limited, No. 63 and No. 64, on the Omaha, running between the twin cities and Duluth.

The petition regarding the Twilight limited trains alleging that travelers suffered great inconvenience because of the failure of the railway company to stop these trains at Turtle Lake, thus preventing an interchange of passengers. It asks for an investigation and an order to stop if it was found feasible. A hearing was held at Madison Feb. 6. After discussing the evidence and arguments presented, the commission says:

DEMANDS MEETING POINTS. "Generally speaking, we are in favor of establishing and maintaining the closest possible train connections at junction points, not only between trains on the same railway system but also between trains on different and competing railway systems. This is in the interest of public convenience and of the general traffic. We believe that railway companies should never cease to co-operate with the fullest possible extent to bring about the greatest degree of unity and system in the operation of trains on their respective systems."

JUST HINTS OF ALL SORTS

Information of Fashion's Fancies Gleaned from Those Who Know the Art of Dress.

The stiff embroidered linen collar so oddly worn with all sorts of drowsy toilettes is now being relegated to its natural place on the blouse. For the dressy occasions there are newer ones in fashionable favor of soft mull edged with high entre deux of fine tucks and lace with falling lace and exquisitely fine embroidered ruffles. For swagging morning wear is the black silk stock—some are even wearing it with lingerie blouses as we have been the linen collar. This also is finished with a white lace or a tiny black silk bow. It's awfully knowing looking.

A band of three-inch white black velvet ribbon makes a charming neck finish. It is passed through several narrow gold, pearl-set bars that serve to keep it well in place, and then tied in a small bow in front.

Amber for the hair is the latest thing. All sorts of lovely shapes in knobs and balls are available in excellent imitation. If the real is beyond one's purse; and for the first time the imitation is shown in truly exquisitely carved combs built high after the Spanish ages. Carvings, wonderful convolutions, and piercings, all after this Spanish pattern, are chic.

One of the most expensive items of our toilettes is the acquiring of the small and smart accessories. Just now, for instance, we are all on the lookout for something new in the way of belts. I've found it! A very wide supple one of white silk braid, the mesh loosely woven and unlined, and centered by a strip of open mesh of a different weave, through which is run a strip of white kid. Long clasps of white kid are at the back and two sides, quite ornate and touched by gold, and a long wider clasp is at the front. It's awfully nice with white blouses.

Little collar sets to be worn with the new tailored blouse—I mean shirt—are being exploited. They are ever so pretty! For those linen collars that are pierced in front with two eyelet-holes, there is a pair of links consisting of two jeweled balls connecting with tiny chains with cuff links to match. All the semi-precious stones, such as amethyst and coral, are used, the colorings to match the costume.

Tortoise shell has quite ousted silver from the toilet table. Of course it is a frightfully expensive, but one may begin to collect it bit by bit. Gold being quite out of the question, except for a few, and silver having become so common from its small price, it is natural to turn to this lovely material. It won't be long, no doubt, before it is adroitly imitated, so far it has not been for toilet articles, so that it has an air of taste and refinement that is most desirable. It so well bespeaks its intrinsic worth that it hardly needs a gold or silver monogram, but most of those that I have seen have had one. It was rather gilding the lily. Tiny jewels set in platinum are also seen on these shell pieces, which, of course, add to their cost, but enhance their beauty. Up to date, all the necessary pieces have not been made, but the largest pieces like brushes, mirrors, combs, boxes, etc., are seen.

It may sound like a truism to say that soap and water will clean anything. But, I mean, that one may dare to use it on the most delicate fabric with reckless confidence. A very elaborate crepe de chine blouse covered with Chinese embroidery was cleaned during the other day, with great success. It was dirty across the front and around the collar, and it was laid down on a marble and scrubbed, not too hard, of course, with a nail-brush wet with warm water and much soap. It was so dirty that it meant a trip to the expensive dry-cleaners before it could be worn again, so it was felt that it couldn't do it any harm. But after it had been rinsed off by dashing it lightly under the cold water faucet, and dried quickly on a hot radiator it looked as fresh as possible. I should hesitate to immerse such a bodice entirely in water, but this method I gladly recommend.

Happy the girl who did not listen to voices that whispered of the short life in store for English eyelid embroidery, but who perfected herself in this most effective branch of needlework. Instead of falling behind in the procession, the eyelid work is more popular this season than it was last, and it is appearing in fabrics of every possible weight. The bit of embroidery gives distinction to a blouse, and the rapid needlewoman can outline her sister who can afford imported frocks if she will bend her energies at once on the embroidering of summer raiment.

Quite as important as embroidery this season is the ability to insert lace. Some of the smartest summer trappings show lace insets or medallions in point de Paris, Geyman and French Val, Cluny or point de Venise, set into machine embroidery such as nainsook or Swiss.

Prudent Women Are Now Planning Summer Outfits

It is becoming more and more the custom to arrange for the summer outfit far in advance. After all, it is but a return to the old days when the prudent housewife planned the family wardrobe months ahead, employed the family seamstress and settled down to handwork. The oldtime village dressmaker, the friend of the family, is now rarely known, but there is no end of dressmakers and seamstresses who work by the day and who at the present moment are absorbed in making the simple gowns of muslin and wash materials that are included in every outfit.

The tailor and department shops where frocks are made offer especial inducements during the between seasons, and there is a great demand for the costumes of serge, light-weight cloth, flannel and all fabrics that can be utilized for the coat and skirt costumes intended to be worn on cool days in summer.

All white costumes are always smart, but this year the striped ones are the fad. White with a hair line of black on collar and cuffs, is a favorite pattern, and there is an endless variety in the width of the stripe. In darker colors the hair line of a darker or lighter shade is far smarter than the shadow check or plaid of last year, and the colors are most charming. There are not many long coats this season; the three-quarter length in the fitted cutaway design with rounded fronts is a favorite model, while the much shorter half-fitting pony coat is also popular.

Hands and straps of the material are used both on the skirts and coats, and often the straps of the cloth are so cleverly combined as to make the skirt appear as though trimmed with braid. The gored skirt is still in favor, while the circular model, with pleats in front and back, is very smart also. One point is essential—that the skirts shall be wide enough to flare well. That can only be gained by the pleats, for there must not be any unnecessary fullness around the hips.

White serge costumes are always effective, and this spring will be more elaborate than usual, for they are heavily braided, often two kinds of this trimming being used; the jackets are almost invariably short, the longest hip length, and while apparently loose define the lines of the figure quite sharply. White linen and all wash materials are made with the short coats also, and these last are extremely careful in effect, the plain linen and the embroidered also being made on the same lines. It is rather a fad just now to have a plain linen skirt, waist and jacket, the only decoration being on the jacket, a narrow fanciful blinding on the lapels and the lower part of the sleeves. The different varieties of braid afford an excellent opportunity of using as varied an effect as a pretty and attractive fancy cloths, but the braided reverses are charming, and they are not difficult or tedious, nor do they require any especial cleverness.

Circular Veil for Picture Hat the Newest Thing

Truly the fashionable woman's veil gives her as much concern these days as any of the more important articles of her wardrobe. No longer will a piece of Brussels net, malines or other gauzy material do, purchased by the yard and tied over her face. Her veil must be made and nearly always trimmed, and in all cases is an expensive luxury. The circular veil for the large picture hat is the newest thing. It is fashioned somewhat like the old flare flounce that adorned skirts a few years ago and has its center cut out so as to fit better around the crown of the chapane. Where the opening is thus formed there is usually a casing or else a narrow lace heading of the same color as the veil, through which baby ribbon of the same shade is run to tie it in the back. The bottom of the veil is edged with a narrow plisse of lace or a band or two of velvet of the same color as the veil. Any clever woman with a yard and a half of chiffon or lace can easily make one of these veils herself at a fraction of the cost of the ready-made variety. The material should be folded in the middle and then folded in sections so as to simplify the process of cutting out the circle of the outer edge and the smaller one which fits around the crown. The depth of the veil when cut depends upon the size of the brim of the picture hat with which it is to be worn. This should be measured, and sufficient material allowed to enable the veil to fall below the chin. The circular veil is as popular thrown back from the face as covering it, and its form lends itself to graceful drapery folds when the front is lifted and the sides allowed to fall as they like.

Genius and Industry.

Ruskin: Never depend upon your genius; if you have none industry will supply the deficiency.

It is always wise to look out for the man who tells you how much he has done for you and how little you, appreciate his benefaction. A close investigation of his past record will bring to light that he has already grafted you and is getting ready to make another haul. The true benefactor is a modest man whose good qualities are discovered by others and not exploited by himself.

The conservative State of Minnesota has just passed a bill for one million two hundred thousand dollars for new buildings and enlargement of the University grounds, aside from the running expenses of the institution. The Minnesota people are proud of their state educational institution and show their pride in supplying abundant means for expansion, growth and running expenses. The same legislature act ashamed to increase their own salaries to five hundred dollars a year. While the bill is passed in the assembly, many vote, No.

The Wisconsin legislature does not hesitate to double their salaries which are already five hundred and make them a thousand and no fault has been found with the act by the masses. However, they should be equally generous toward the great State University which was robbed by early legislatures of all of its timber lands, on the ground that a populous state in later years could easily support it by direct tax. Had those timber lands been preserved; today the income of the university would be double what they ask to support the institution.

Tuesday, Miss Florence B. Richard, the temperance lecturer, talked to the High school.

The Seniors have about decided on their play. Mr. Collins is working with them.

Friday, comes the big debate between the Minerva girls' society and the boys' Literary and Athletic society.

The High school pupils have come back from their vacation with new determinations, but most of them are determined to do as little as possible.

Some of the pupils, who came on the wrong side of seventy in plane geometry final, are wishing that there was never such a thing as geometry invented.

Somebody played a kid trick Tuesday. He pasted a heading of a newspaper article on the wall. It read, "Collins dreams he will get a job. O, my, what a beautiful dream!" The Professor is after their scalps.

A Woman Tells How to Relieve Rheumatic Pains.
I have been a very great sufferer from the dreadful disease, rheumatism, for a number of years. I have tried many medicines but never got much relief from any of them until 2 years ago, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I found relief before I had used all of one bottle but kept on applying it and soon felt like a different woman. Through my advice many of my friends have tried it and can tell you how wonderfully it has worked.—Miss SARAH A. COLE, 140 S. New St., Dover, Del. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a liniment. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes rest and sleep possible. For sale by

Mr. Wm. Henry of Chattanooga, Tenn., had rheumatism in his left arm. "The strength seemed to have gone out of the muscles so that I was useless for work," he says. "I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and wrapped the arm in flannel at night, and to my relief I found that the pain gradually left me and the strength returned. In three weeks the rheumatism had disappeared and has not since returned." If troubled with rheumatism try a few applications of Pain Balm. You are certain to be pleased with the relief which it affords. For sale by
